CHAPTER 04 NOTES

After each character there's a link to their page on the official site, there you can preview their voice, as well as see their alternate outfit.
The notes below are more focused on the real horses they are based on

T M OPERA O:

T M Opera O is a Japanese thoroughbred horse who is one of the few horses in the world to have earned more than 10 million dollars in winnings JPY 1,835,189,000 (converted to USD $16,200,337 at the time of the race). In the manga, she uses the masculine "boku" whenever she says "I".

EL CONDOR PASA:

El Condor Pasa is a thoroughbred who hails from Kentucky, but was trained in Japan. He was nominated the Japan Horse of the Year in 1999. The name comes from the title of an orchestral musical piece, which translates to "The Condor Passes" in English.
But still, why does she wear the mask?
Perhaps, the answer is bigger than you think...

GRASS WONDER:

Another American-bred, Japanese-trained horse, Grass Wonder had an impressive juvenile record, including a dramatic win at the 1999 Arima Kinen, narrowly coming out ahead of Special Week, T M Opera O and Tsurumaru Tsuyoshi in the last 200 metres, becoming the fourth horse to have won consecutively at Arima Kinen following Speed Symboli, Symboli Rudolph, and Oguri Cap.
